FILE CHARGES AGAINST RILEY

New Board Claims He Is Incompetent —Hearing to Be Held Friday at St. Joseph Asylum

Dr. Frederick P. Riley of Clyde, lately appointed superintendent of state hospital No. 2 in St. Joseph, was notified to appear before the board of managers Friday afternoon to answer to charges of incompetency. The charges are expected to result in the removal of Dr. Riley and the reinstatement of Dr. Porter E. Williams, forced out last week. The action taken is by the orders given the new members of the board of managers by Governor Frederick D. Gardner.

The meeting yesterday was attended by James H. Hull of Platte City, J. L. George of Kansas City, Dr. Arthur Nelson of Bunceton and Edward Kelso of Grant City. The last two managers were appointed to the board with Charles R. Berry of St. Joseph. Berry forwarded his declination to serve on the board because of pressing business. All the members are understood to be in favor of any recommendations made by the governor.

Dr. Riley was at the institution last night and made the following statement:

"I have been duly elected to fill the place as superintendent of the state hospital No. 2 for the insane and feel that I am fully capable of handling the position. I shall remain at the institution until such time as the board of managers prove my incompetency."

TO SUPPORT FAIR

COMMERCIAL CLUB PLEDGES FINANCIAL AND MORAL AID

SELL SEASON TICKETS

At Special Meeting Last Night, Called to Alter By laws, Several Matters Were Up For Discussion

Members of the Maryville Commercial Club, at a special meeting at the Elks Club last night, went on record by agreement to give financial and moral support to the new management of the county fair that Nodaway county might have an annual fall event that would be a success and a credit to the county. Included in the resolution that met unanimous approval was a decision to make a systematic campaign for the sale of season tickets in an effort to sell at least 1,500 at $2 each.

The special meeting was called by President Geo. R. Ellison for the purpose of making a change in the by-laws of the club in order that vacancies in the directorship might be filled at any time during the year, the emergeucy having arisen by reason of two members of the board having been called to the colors. The by-laws were duly amended and the board given power to fill any existing vacancies.

The call included a discussion of the former action of the club when it was voted to give no support to the old fair management. On learning and being assured that A. O. Mason was no longer connected with the association in any capacity whatever, and that local men were in charge with promise of a first class fair, and that every effort would be made to please and satisfy patrons and exhibitors, the former action was rescinded and a resolution to aid the new management in every way possible met hearty approval. J. F. Roelofson, president and manager of the Nodaway Fair Association, was present and outlined the plans for the fall fair, answering a number of questions in connection with the change in ownership and management.

It being formerly the custom of the business men to make donations to the fair management to help with the financial end, the agreement to sell season tickets, it was agreed, was a better plan, and they will be sold singly and in blocks to those who have formerly given outright. President Roelofson gave assurance that only high class free attractions would be engaged and that the number of show ring and racing horses would be larger than in former years, with plenty of high class animals from the big circuits. Exhibits from the various townships will be a feature this year, the purses being in excess of any heretofore offered. Already some six or seven townships are making plans for exhibits. District Farm Agent J. M. Huston will have charge of the displays.

A letter to Mayor O. W. Garrett from J. H. McLeod of Little Rock, Ark., representing the Arkansas delegation that recently were Maryville's guests, was read, and in which much pleasure was expressed at the hospitality shown and the profit that will result from their visit here.

Ed G. Orear, recently returned from the national convention of United Commercial Travelers at Columbus, O., declared that the favorable impression gained of Maryville and the county's resources was responsible for support from the Arkansas delegation in helping to elect a Missourian to the supreme council of the order, representatives from the state having been told by the returning party of their enjoyable visit to Maryville.

Secretary E. M. Claypool stated that plans were being made for sociability runs by members of the club who would spend several afternoons in short auto tours visiting farmers throughout the county.

A good representation of club members were present at the meeting, which proved of paramount interest.

BUSINESS COLLEGE PLAN MEETS DISFAVOR WITH COM'L CLUB

FULL COURSE AT NORMAL

Members at Special Meeting Learn Some Interesting Things Concerning Advantages Offered Students

"With the demand so great for men and women trained in lines of agriculture and as teachers in various lines of business and industry, there is still but few of our young people who realize the opportunities that lie open to them through the proper preparation, and which is being offered in the Normal school." This was the statement made last night by President Ira Richardson of the Maryville Normal school, who addressed a meeting of members of the Commercial Club.

At the meeting held at the Elks Club, besides amending the by-laws of the club relating to filling vacancies on the board of directors and, pledging support to the new county fair management, a proposal by an out of town business college to establish a school here was presented. It was in this connection that the above statement was made by President Richardson, who also gave some interesting data concerning the business course at the Normal. While no publicity has been given or exploitation made of the course found necessary by rapidly changing conditions, and the demands of students who seek positions that they be familiar with business branches, President Richardson pointed out that in the bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand and penmanship classes some forty to sixty students were taking the course in addition to their other studies. President Richardson pointed out that no extra charge was made for the course and that books were sold at low cost and repurchased from the student after they were through with them at a slight reduction from the original cost.

He said that a much larger number of students had sought to add the course to their other studies but because of inability to secure competent trained instructors and typewriting machines it had been found impracticable at this time to add to the enrollment of the present classes.

President Richardson said that the young people of school age should have every opportunity possible to secure training in the state and public schools in the various branches that appealed to them.

"I want to congratulate the Maryville public school board," said President Richardson, "on the installation of a commercial course in the high school. I do not know how many men have taken occasion to tell the members of the board, but I want to say publicly that it is a fine thing and ought to have been installed long ago." President Richardson said that due publicity would shortly be given the advantages of the commercial course offered at the Normal.

Dr. Jesse Miller, member of the school board, said that it had taken a hard fight to get the new course installed, the matter of finances entering largely into the matter.

Following the discussion and information presented by President Richardson it was generally expressed that a business college in the city would find inadequate support. No action was taken in the matter.

BUSINESS DOUBLES

THE POLAND-CHINA ASSOCIATION SETS SOME NEW RECORDS

A DIRECTORS MEETING

Will Award Silver Trophies to Poland-China Exhibitors at Fair—To Give Its Own Banquet Next Year

With business having nearly doubled within the past two years both from the sale of shares of stock and from recording fees for animals, directors of the Standard Poland-China Record Association at their semi-annual meeting held here today are much gratified at the showing that has been made.

The report of Secretary Frank L. Garrett shows that for the first six months of this year 137 shares of stock were sold, as against 45 shares sold in 1916. Receipts for recording animals for the six months ending July 1 were $12,521.71. For the same period in 1916 receipts from this source were $6,705.05.

The directors at their meeting today ordered that suitable premiums be awarded in Poland-China classes to exhibitors at the fair, the premiums to be in the form of silver trophies.

Poland-China exhibitors at other fairs in this section and in the adjoining states of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska will also be offered trophies.

It was decided that th eannual banquet for members next year would be given by the association. In other years it has been given by the Commercial Club. The annual event will be held in January.

The following directors were present at the meeting: S. McKelvie of Fairfield, Nebr.; L. R. McClarnon of Braddyville, Ia.; M. S. Staples, Burlington Junction; James Kennish of Mound City, and O. L. Garrett of Maryville.

SUGAR RULES FOR DEALERS

Dean Mumford, State Food Administrator, Issues New Regulations Concerning Consumption

Columbia, July 10.—Consumption of sugar has been limited to three pounds a month for each person in the household, but this does not mean that a month's supply may be bought from the retailer, the Missouri division of the food administration has announced.

Dealers are warned that not more than two pounds at a time may be sold to city consumers, regardless of the size of the household, nor more than five pounds to rural customers.

Total purchases by the consumer each month must not amount to more than three pounds for each member of the household. If a household consists of five persons, not more than fifteen pounds of sugar may be used in one month. This fifteen pounds must be bought in two-pound quantities, if the purchaser lives in town, and in five-pound quantities if he lives in the country.

For canning and preserving purposes as much as twenty-five pounds may be bought on certificate. Retailers are not allowed to sell sugar to other than household consumers without the presentation by the purchaser of a certificate issued by the United States food administration.

PUT A BAN ON SUGAR BOWLS

Guests In Hotels and Restaurants Must Ask for Whatever Sweetening They Want Now

New restrictions on the serving of sugar in hotels, restaurants and public eating houses have just been announced by the Missouri division of the United States food administration. According to these regulations sugar bowls must be removed from tables and counters and the consumption of sugar must be limited to three pounds for each ninety meals served.

Not more than two teaspoonfuls of sugar or its equivalent in lump sugar may be served to any one person at any meal, and no sugar is to be served at any meal unless requested by the guest. Corn sugar and brown sugar may be used as substitutes.

Make one lump and one teaspoonful of sugar do the work of two. This is the new admonition of the food administration to every sugar consumer.

PRINCE MAY PAY US VISIT.

London, July 10.—London papers are making frequent and favorable comment on the suggestion that the Prince of Wales pay a visit to the United States.

It is argued that the Prince's visit would be in the nature of a simple young Englishman carrying to America a personal message of brotherly appreciation.

Frequent editorials insist that such a visit within the next few months would be admirably well timed and that the Prince's visit in the United States, not as a representative of the British government, would further cement the friendship between the two countries.

KNIT 800,000 PAIRS SOCKS

Red Cross Workers Must Furnish 980,000 Knitted Articles for the Boys by September 1

Red Cross workers of the southwestern division have begun the knitting of 800,000 pairs of socks and 180,000 sweaters for soldiers and sailors this winter. The articles must be turned over to the division headquarters before September 1.

The government several days ago requested the socks and sweaters in addition to the regular amount of knitted goods being supplied by the Red Cross. In this connection, Geo. W. Simmons, manager of the southwestern division, comprising Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas, has asked that work on other knitted articles be continued and that as far as possible the order for the socks and sweaters be filled by additional work.

HOLD 100 VIGILANTES AT BAY

German Lutheran Preacher and Followers Tear Down Flag — The Sheriff Asks for Troops

Toledo, Ohio, July 10.—Sheriff Spencer has telephoned the Toledo police asking troops be rushed to prevent further bloodshed at West Hope, where Rev. C. L. Peters and a dozen of his followers are holding more than 100 vigilantes at bay in a hut on the outskirts of the village. Peters, a German Lutheran preacher, tore an American flag from its place and trampled it under foot. Angry citizens organized and are in control of the town. Germans who were in sympathy with the minister fired on the vigilantes and one man was wounded. Two-thirds of the population of West Hope are Germans. Five men were reported wounded in desultory fighting. President Peters of the League of American Patriots said this afternoon that more than five hundred members of the league from eighty nearby towns had hurried to West Hope to wipe out the spirit of autocracy forever. Ritter was fired upon twice during the morning, he said.

RUSS PLANS READY

WILSON CONSIDERS NAMES OF MEN FOR NEW COMMISSION

APPROVED BY ENTENTE

Intervention Should Come Now to Be Effective Is Opinion—Critical Moment In Russia Has Come

Washington, July 10. — President Wilson has completed his plans for an economic rehabilitation of Russia. Today he has before him various suggestions for men to be named to the proposed commission which will go to Russia to extend financial and industrial aid in rebuilding the nation. The general plans to be followed have been communicated to the Entente governments and are understood to have met with their approval.

There is reason to believe that within the last two weeks President Wilson, in addition to the representations concerning the Czecho-Slovaks, whom the Allies are reluctant to abandon to their fate, had before him also the following considerations:

1. The critical moment in Russia has arrived.

2. Russians of every political faith out lacking arms and other equipment have rallied to the nucleus of the Czecho-Slovaks in considerable numbers.

3. France must have relief.

4. If the war is to be decided on the western front the cooperation of a rehabilitated Russia would hasten the decision, but abandonment of Russia would eventually result in the establishment of a strong military alliance between Russia and Germany.

5. Circumstances in Russia have reached the point where action is essential. Economic relief is impossible unless accompanied by military assistance, and unless the Allies go to Russia's help the Russians, already feeling themselves abandoned and their situation hopeless, will be obliged to appeal to Germany.

6. The argument that the peace treaty after Germany's defeat will restore the ante-bellum situation in Russia, with the exception of the empire, re-establishing the democratic regime, is fallacious, as it would be both contrary to the rights of nations and also would invite war with Russia herself if the Allies should attempt to intervene in Russia's internal strife.

7. Military experts are skeptical of a decision being won by the Allies within one year. Given a year's time in Russia, Germany could succeed in Germanizing the nation.

Make your knitting needles click faster than ever during these summer months. For now is the time to prepare for the freezing cold of the late fall and winter when a million of our boys will be Over There. The Red Cross asks you to make the following articles this summer. Get directions for making any or all of them from Miss Hattie Pierce. Directions change from time to time as new and better methods are discovered. This is one of the proofs of the efficiency of the Red Cross—its ability to keep up with changing methods and demands, so get the latest instructions and knit, knit, KNIT. Knit and purl, knit and purl,
All the livelong day;
This is what the needles sing
To the yarn of gray;
Purl and knit, purl and knit,
As the garments grow;
Everyone must do her bit
For the cause, you know.

In countless homes the sound is heard,
The song the needles sing;
As day by day the women lay
Their bit, an offering;
Old fingers, gnarled and tough with toil,
Young fingers, white and slim,
Each does her share with equal care
Because—it is for him.

And countless hearts at home today
Throb to the needles' song,
As far away the ships of gray
File steadily along;
Old hearts grown wise with many years,
Young hearts unused to pain,
Will pray alone, each for her own,
"God send him back again."

"SLACKER LAND"

A PROBLEM THAT WILL COMPEL ATTENTION IN THE U. S.

14,000,000 ACRES IN MO.

Louis Wallis, Agent of the Fels International Commission, On a Visit Here—Will Deliver Address

Representing the Fels International Commission, with headquarters in New York and London, Mr. Louis Wallis, formerly on the faculty of the Ohio state university, visited Maryville today in the course of a tour of the middle states. Mr. Wallis will make a public address this evening at the court house. This Commission was established before the war for the purpose of raising the land problem everywhere. The British government subsidizes the Fels work in England, with power to commandeer vacant land for war work. Over a quarter of a million people were placed at work on vacant land in London alone last year; while this summer over a million persons will be at work on the "Fels lots," helping to raise food and beat the kaiser. When Lloyd George, the present prime minister of Britain, was chancellor of the British treasury, his campaign to tax land values was actively supported by the Fels organization. This work is of special and immediate interest to Missouri, owing to the fact that we shall this year vote in November on a bill directed against "slacker land," of which there are fourteen million acres in the state. Speaking of this problem to a Democrat-Forum reporter, the Fels representative said:

"So long as we had a large amount of free land that could be taken up by actual settlers at small cost there was no great social problem here in America. But by taxing the use of land more heavily than speculation in land we have put a premium on holding the soil vacant, not only in farming districts, but in and around our town and cities. The result is that the land speculator has outrun the westward going immigrant; and while there is still plenty of land in the United States, we no longer have a 'West' which can absorb the dissatisfied and ambitious population."

"By the year 1900—at the end of the last century—practically all the good land in the United States was reduced to private title. We then became hysterical over the subject of conservation. It was felt that we must carefully preserve the deserts and mountains that still remained public property. Following this agitation, about the year 1906, the level of staple prices began mysteriously to rise. And in the meanwhile the cost of living has more than doubled.

"The fundamental causes for this condition are quite simple: The withholding of land from use on speculation has artificially increased the price of land, the basic element of human life. There are more than 500,000,000 acres of unused land in the United States—in and around our towns and cities and out in the country districts—land which could be used for producing food, building homes, erecting factories and business blocks, mining coal, iron and other minerals. But this land is all held at a speculative price. Land prices have more than doubled since the beginning of this twentieth century in which we are living. Whoever wants to plant new farms, build new homes, erect new factories or business blocks or open new mines, must first of all pay a good round price for the bare land; and then, after the land has been improved, cultivated or built upon, he must submit to heavy taxation on account of his industry and enterprise.

"Under our present scheme of general property taxation, farmers and the middle and laboring classes in the cities pay too much in proportion to the property they have; while the big interests always pay too little in proportion. The evils of the present system began to be seen by the farmers of western Canada some ten or fifteen years ago. They woke up to a realization of the fact that their labor and industry increased the value of neighboring wild land held out of use by speculators. The wild land was lightly taxed; but when the real farmers wanted to buy it to extend their farms they had to pay fancy prices. Accordingly, the farmers demanded and secured the enactment of laws taxing wild lands more heavily and at the same time reducing taxes on improvements."

The most startling single factor that is coming out of the war is woman. And it is time, whether peace is near or not, to begin to readjust ourselves to an amazing lot of notions and fetishes that we are going to be asked to throw into the scrap heap.

"For the Boys Over There."

All the people of the Protestant churches are requested to meet at 6:30 o'clock at the South Methodist church to pray for "our boys over there." Will you be there?

True it may call for a little sacrifice on your part, but have you ever stopped to comprehend the immeasurable sacrifice our boys are undergoing for you? They are giving up their dreams, ideals, plans and work to go to the battle fields of France. Is it not the smallest thing we can do to spend one hour together for them? After all, our blessings can only be enjoyed most by some sacrifice on our part.

The following poem is said to have been written by a soldier in a hospital in Rowan, France, just before he died:

TO MY MOTHER.

Are they praying for us at home?
Are they meeting together in prayer?
Or going on still in the same old way
As they did when I was there?
We thank them for their money,
We thank them for their care,
But, oh, just tell them, mother, dear,
We are needing so much prayer!

Will you ask them to gather together
To meet at our Father's throne,
That we may be kept from faltering
When we feel we are standing alone?
There are moments when courage fails us,
When dangers around us stare,
Oh, tell them again, dear mother,
We are needing so much prayer!

Surely their voices must touch us,
As they echo over the seas,
And call us away from our pleasure,
To help them on bended knees.
We are sending them money and comfort,
And seeking their burdens to share,
But, oh, let the churches be crowded
When kneeling for them in prayer!

WHEAT PROFITS ALTER VIEWS

Wheat Growers Who May Be Disgruntled Over Food Regulations Will Consider Finance First

Jefferson City, July 10.—Local food administrators in the big wheat-growing sections of central Missouri are investigating reports that many farmers have decided to forego the planting of wheat this fall for next year's crop. The basis of these reports is to the effect that the farmers are greatly provoked over food regulations under which they must use the same proportion of wheat substitutes as are enforced upon people who live in the cities, and that a considerable number of them have decided that if they are to be denied the privilege of using all the flour they want for home consumption, made from the wheat that they grow, they will plant their lands in other crops until such time as the food regulations are changed.

The fact that the price of wheat is so high that the agriculturists are all making money out of growing the grain is thought by some to be of sufficient weight to cause farmers to plant as much wheat as possible this fall even if they are angry over the food regulations.

The reports are to be thoroughly investigated and it is expected that the state board of agriculture will become interested. The new wheat crop is the largest by many millions of bushels ever grown in the state and when the farmers count up their profits they may conclude that it would be bad financeering on their part to refuse to plant another crop of wheat.

WRITE NEW WEDDING MARCH

Sousa, Aware of Dislike for Teuton Numbers, Is at Work On Score For An American Piece

Chicago, July 9.—Lieutenant John Philip Sousa, the "March King," is at work on a march which may become the American wedding march of the future. Because of the war there is a growing dislike to Wagner's "Lohengrin" march and works by Mendelssohn, so that the American number would fill a real need.

The new military spirit has inspired Sousa to compose a new series of marches which may prove his best since the famous ones of his earlier career.

Among his new works, says the Great Lakes Bulletin, is the "Anchor and Star" march, which was dedicated to the navy. It is said to be one of the most stirring of his compositions. "Sabers and Spurs" was written for the Three Hundred and Eleventh cavalry, which is stationed at Fort Riley, Texas. It is the first march officially written for the cavalry.

A Recruit In the Marine Corps Will Probably Never Know Reasons For His Rejection

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 9.—The curiosity of Henry James, who applied for enlistment in the U. S. marine corps here, remains unsatisfied.

James was taken before Dr. J. G. Hildebrand, the examining physician, and after the usual physical examination was told that he failed to meet the requirements.

"What's the matter with me?" queried the prospective Hun destroyer.

"You've got scoliosis, phthisis and synoiritis," was the surgeon's reply.

The would-be marine blushed to be told so frankly what prevented his becoming a Devil Dog and turned to go out, when the doctor shot a few hot parting words after him.

"Not only that—you're troubled with slight astigmatism, otitis media and chronic furmunculosis."

"Gosh," was all the lad could say, as he fled in confusion.

Mrs. H. J. Parrish and daughter, Mamie, left last night for St. Joseph where they will make their home.

KAISER'S PRE-WAR PLAN SEEN

Big Tax Levy On German Estate In Kentucky Was Made—Property Worth Half a Million

Lexington, Ky., July 9.—That the kaiser foresaw war with other European countries, and probably with America, is indicated by a story just made public in Kentucky through the seizure by the alien property custodian of half a million dollars' worth of property in Kentucky belonging to Baron von Zedtwitz of the German army.

It has become known that the kaiser levied a heavy tax upon the American estates of von Zedwitz in 1913, and that the money from this, as well as from the taxation placed on other German-American estate holders, was used to extend the German munitions plants.

Zedtwitz was the son of the old Baron von Zedtwitz, a close friend of the kaiser, his mother being Mary Elizabeth Caldwell, the daughter of Shakespeare Caldwell, a Louisville millionaire and a famous society beauty.

THE ARMY PROBLEM

IS NOT LIKE RECRUITING

A New System of Reception Has Been Devised—Training Schedule Has Been Shortened

TO RECEIVE AND TRAIN THE LARGE CONTINGENTS

The problem that confronts the army today in receiving thousands of men from civilian life and putting them into the unifrom and discipline of military life is vastly different from the recruiting problems of the old-time regular army. Men now come into the camps at the rate of a thousand or more a day. They come hungry and somebody has to feed them. Most of them are worn out with a day or two on crowded troop trains and somebody has to put them to bed. Some of them contracted measles or mumps or something worse, perhaps, and if they aren't looked after at once they and their comrades will be laid up and the training of the national forces will be held up just that much.

For a year the reserve corps of officers of Camp Funston and Camp Doniphan have followed the beaten path laid out by the regular army men in the old days when the army was an affair of fifty or sixty thousand men all told. Under the strain of the huge numbers of recruits arriving the system worked badly. Men went two weeks without uniforms, sometimes even a month. Company commanders were distracted with keeping up with sounding each increment of new men assigned to them to this infirmary for examination and to that board for something else. Everywhere the men stood in line long hours waiting their turn to be innoculated and poked into, as it seemed to them, by pretty nearly every sort of doctor that the law allows.

As the arrivals of new men became more and more steady and the old system became more and more mired down in its complexities, the authorities in charge of Camp Funston since the departure of the 89th Division for overseas service have instituted a new plan. The men are now taken to a central receiving station immediately from the train. Upon entering the station they undress, checking over their valuables and clothes to Y. M. C. A. representatives. They then are lined up and examined superficially by a number of army physicians. Then, maintaining the line, they move through a series of shower baths soaping and scrubbing as they move along, dry themselves with towels furnished as they emerge, and proceed, through a regular battery of medical experts who examine them for defects of heart, lungs, feet and so on. Clerks take down their measurements and their family history and vocational qualifications, other clerks have their clothes ready for them, together with a substantial blue denim barrack bag to stow them in. Orthopodic specialists examine the fit of each man's shoes to make sure that he has not received too large a shoe through another's carelessness or too small a one through his own vanity. The rookie then dons his uniform puts the rest of his outfit in his bag reclaims his valuables from the Y. M. C. A., mails his old clothes back home through the same organization, with packing material supplied him, and steps out a soldier ready for instruction in drill, with even his first innoculation for typhoid already in his arm, and all is done in a single day.

The new system not only takes a heavy load off the individual commanders, but actually advances the retaining schedule by full two weeks. In other words, the men of Camp Funston will now be ready for their work against the Hun two weeks sooner that the men of last year could train, simply because they got started at real work and drill two weeks earlier. It appears that the problems of organization and of handling vast numbers of men are being met with resourcefulness now by officers, many of whom were themselves in civilian life a little over a year ago.

SOLDIERS DEFEAT LIQUOR LAW IN BATHING SUITS

New York, July 10.—Soldiers in local camps have solved the liquor problem by donning bathing suits at any of the many bathing beaches and ordering drinks. Proprietors and waiters have no way of telling a soldier in a bathing suit. Representatives of the army and navy are now figuring on a plan to defeat the novel idea.

Obituary.

Miles McNeal was born in Huntington county, Pa., January 30, 1850, and died at the home of his brother, Allen McNeal, six miles southeast of Graham, July 7, 1918.

When a young man he came with his father to Missouri in 1869 and settled in the south part of Nodaway county. He attended school in St. Joseph, Mo., and was a graduate of Bryant's Business College of that city. For a number of years he taught in the rural schools of this county. He afterward went into business at Skidmore where he resided until his election to the office of county clerk, to which office he was twice elected.

While living at Skidmore he met and married Miss Mary Brown. To them was born one child, which died in infancy.

About fifteen years ago he went to Joplin, Mo., and engaged in the mining business for several years. He afterward lived in Texas for a time, then went to Arizona, where he took a homestead. After proving up on the claim and finding himself in failing health, he came back to Nodaway county a little over one year ago and made his home with his brother, Allen.

When a young man he joined the "Church of God" in Pennsylvania, and on coming to Missouri and finding no church of his faith, he never identified himself with any church.

He was a man respected and honored by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his loss four brothers and one sister—Ephriam, of Meadville, Mo.; Oliver and Allen of Palmer, Nebr.; and Mrs. Mary A. Brownlee of Maitland, Mo.

His body was borne to its last resting place by six of his nephews.

The funeral was conducted at the home of his brother on Monday, July 8, 1918, at 2 p. m. Interment at the Miriam cemetery in Maryville.

Stationed at Camp Lewis.

Albert Berlin, former news editor of the Democrat-Forum, is in training at Camp Lewis, Wash. Mrs. Berlin, who was formerly Miss Ada Clayton of Maryville, is at home in Everett, Wash., for the present.

England is saving $5,000,000 a year out of the refuse of the military camps.

Credit Better Than Currency.

Have you ever stopped to consider that no one ever established a credit by paying out the cash?

The one you deal with may not even know your name if you pay with currency.

People in realty establish their credit by paying by check when they agree to.

You do not have to have large capital in order to write checks.

Your monthly salary or income is sufficient.
